My dear Mr. Borland:

In response to your letter dated the 5th, received the 7th instant, in which you inquire as to the status of the claim of Theresa Bartleson, whose post office address you do not give--as widow of Lewis Bartleson, who served in Company A, 106th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry--I have the honor to inform you that after a careful search of the files and records of this Bureau, no claim for widow's pension in her behalf is found.

September 28, 1904, she filed her claim for the accrued pension due the soldier on his Certificate No. 1,008,439, at the date of his death--the prosecution of which appears to have been abandoned.

Very respectfully,

Commissioner.

It is not believed that there is in this claim a sufficient element of doubt on any feature to call for a special examination. The claimant's extreme age makes it quite improbable that there could have been a remarriage or adulterous acts since soldier's death. Death of both Klunk and Deplain is established and it would seem quite clear that the claimant was living with soldier from soon after death of Deplain and married him immediately after the death of the wife Elizabeth (whose death should be noted on brief face). As soldier was not under guardianship until a year and a half after this marriage we could hardly raise the question of his mental capacity to contract same; and finally the marriage was in the State of Missouri where very liberal presumptions are indulged to sustain validity of a marriage even though there is incompleteness of proof as to competency.

Title may be accepted on evidence in case.

In reference to the above entitled claim for pension, you are advised that the certified copy of letters of curatorship filed February 10, 1917, does not satisfy the requirements of this Bureau, for the reason that it does not show that the curator, W. There should therefore be furnished on the form herewith a certificate from the Probate Court of Jackson County, Missouri, showing that for the protection of the interests of his ward the said curator, W. R. Moore, has given bond in the penal sum of not less than $500.

The above claim was approved for admission June 2, 1917, but the mailing of the pension certificate will be delayed pending compliance with this requirement.
